In 75 years of progress, 3,156 graduates have emerged from the halls of Beloit High School. They have faced their adult responsibilities in all walks of life successfully, prepared for the big test of Life by their four unforgettable years at BHS. They have left behind rich traditions and a well-tested path for us who follow. We, the 75th graduating class, now go to join that line of alumni proud in the record of progress made in the year of the Diamond Jubilee that we leave behind.

Share with us the experiences of our high school days as in the pages that follow, using the theme "Diamond Jubilee," we visit, once again, the hallowed rooms of knowledge and recall the life of a teenage student--1957 style.

Class History

SENIORS

1957--a year that will be fondly remembered by the seventy-fifth graduating class of Beloit High School. Years from now, these alumni will be recalling the fun--and work--of producing a class play, and the never-to-be forgotten feeling of nervous excitement on opening night the moment we know the audience likes it---the wonderful class parties--the hopes of winning a prize as a clever float is built--the responsibility of leadership when the goal of being seniors is reached--the rousing class discussions--the cramming for exams--games played our best, win or lose--homecomings--the realization, as each annual event passed so quickly, that we will not be part of it again. And at last, the solemn occasion of graduation exercises--the last farewell to a way of life we experienced for four years in the now familiar halls of Troy.

1957--the year of rock 'n' roll, of more world crisis, of drouth, and, for each senior, a year of fulfillment. But this is a record of four years, not just one. Let's take one backward glance----

Seventy shy, so young freshmen entering BHS one September day did not much resemble today's assured seniors. To some, coming from Junior High, the building was familiar, but the adventures were new. To others coming in from the country, it was a completely different world. But all were eager to learn 'what and how' together. We began our high school career successfully by selecting Don Bliss, president; Mike Smith, vice-president; and Carol Studer, secretary-treasurer. This was the year Beloit was league basketball champ. The freshmen were not to be outdone, achieving a 13-1 record to also be winners! A drivers education class was also instituted.

The sophomore year was marked by selecting as officers Cathy Barber, president; Deanna McKinnie, vice-president; and Robert Tripp, secretary-treasurer. A class skating party was enjoyed at Courtland. It was a year of greater participation--a girl's basketball team was organized; boys were playing on the varsity teams; talented musicians were emerging.

Then, at last, we were upper-classmen. We produced our first play, "Seventeenth Summer." We ordered class rings, and gave a successful banquet for the seniors using the theme, "Toyland," a fitting climax to a busy year.

We, as students, have learned--to live in harmony with others--to study and work in order to reach goals--to use our talents to be leaders. We have graduated and already commenced traveling on the road of life as adults, prepared to be better individuals by the carefree fun, responsible work of these, our high school days, now but precious memories.

GEMS OF HISTORY

For 75 years the silent halls of Troy have heard the echoes of laughter and tears as the ever ancient-ever new, exciting story of the juniors and the underclassmen unfolds. Each class comes as freshmen---bewildered; as sophomores--- willing workers; as juniors---perhaps feeling self-important, but anxious to become what they consider adult upperclassmen. Every class, confident that theirs is "the best," strives to great achievements. Here the lessons of togetherness; of class pride and school tradition is taught by the best teacher of all--Experience.

Mr. Walmer in the second hour English class

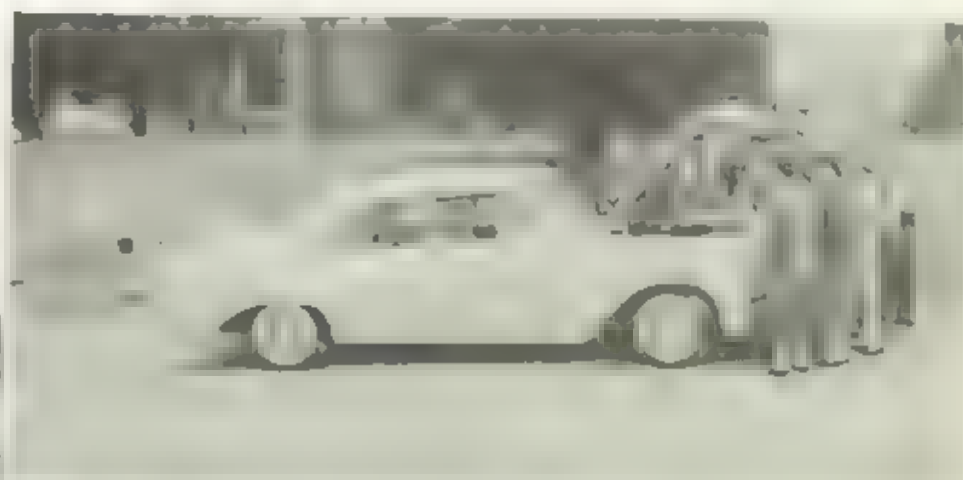

English is perhaps the most essential academic subject in the school program. The teachers of the eleven English classes are Mrs. Peggy Doyen, Mr. Paul Walmer, and Mr. Ted Wiebe. There are three freshman classes, four sophomore classes, three junior classes and one senior class.

Three years of English are required, but for the first time senior English was offered. This is a continuance of grammar and English literature. Besides giving the student more practice in the use of the language, it is a fine background for college work. The class of seven students explored many new and interesting fields.

Pictured is the Consumer's Economics class. The same group has studied Psychology the first semester. Mr. Cornwell was the instructor for these classes.

American History is a course required before graduation. The fifth hour class is show viewing a slide on current affairs.

Student Council Has Active Year...

The 16 Student Council members were representatives from each organization, homerooms, and the journalism Staff. The Student Council, with the aid of the sponsors, helped decide certain school policies. These 16 members collaborated with the Pep Club in the general supervision of queen elections, homecoming dances, and programs.

The organization sponsored lyceum programs, sold pencils, pennants, and bought a new soft drink vending machine for the students.

The "Boy and Girl of the Month" calendar which was first used this year by the Council proved to be very popular. The boy and girl candidates were chosen by their classmates for their qualities of leadership.

In order to improve our school, several members of the Student Council attended a conference at Concordia, September 24.

Initiates Popular Calendar of the Month.

The Calendar of the Month, sponsored by the Student Council, was begun last December. The purpose of this project was to recognize students who served their school well. Each month three boys and three girls were selected by various groups as candidates, with the student body then voting. Pictures of each month's candidates were placed on a special calendar on the bulletin board.

The groups selecting candidates for the respective months December through May were: Pep Club and football squad; Y-Teens and Hi-Y; freshman and sophomore classes; Home Economics and FFA; B & O; and the senior class.

MUSIC & DRAMA

GEMS OF HISTORY

In 1917 B.H.S. boasted of a chorus of 72 people...a small orchestra...a fine, spirited band. In 1929 a musical (spring concert) was presented to the public...Talented individuals entered music contests even in those medieval days...All-school operettas were lavish productions...Class plays were so eagerly viewed by the community that in 1921 the senior play had to be presented to capacity crowds two nights. So in the world of music and drama we also find a worthy past to live up to.

As we heard the stage manager's voice say, "Places," on the opening night of our play, many thoughts ran through our minds. Those jittery moments before tryouts, our first hilarious reading of the play, the long, sometimes tedious rehearsals, the feeling of readiness and anxiousness after the lines were finally learned--these were a few of the thoughts.

We discovered that plays are fun but also a lot of hard work for the director, the cast, and for all others participating in the production. There are committees appointed to have charge of the props, programs, prompters, lights and the other factors necessary for a successful play.

After a sleepless night the curtain opened on a vast, new experience--one we shall cherish the rest of our lives. And when we heard our stage manager say, "Curtain," for the last curtain call, mixed feelings of relief and regret went through us for he had brought the curtain shut on one of the happiest experiences of our lives.

Seniors Produce Sophisticated Comedy

A senior play was to be presented in three short weeks. "How can I ever learn my lines?"

"Can we ever have it ready?"

"I'm afraid!"

Asking questions and making exclamations such as these, ten diligent seniors began the first sketchy reading of "Dear Ruth." As they rehearsed and worried, hosts of others were about building the set, finding props, and selecting costumes.

Those weeks of preparation seemed to go by in a flash. Then it was opening night. As we stood blocked from the view of the audience by the stately maroon, velvet curtain, which had witnessed many such occasions, we began to feel a little shakey, for we knew that this was to be one of our biggest responsibilities in our senior year.

The first night came and went, and then the second. As the curtain closed on that last performance we knew that we had shared an experience which we would always cherish and remember.

Speech Students Present Hilarious and . . .

One of the major achievements for speech students in the two speech classes was the presentation of a program of one-act plays the evening of April 30. Each student was cast in one play in addition to being in his own backstage crew. Each play was also student directed.

Mrs. Doyen, the instructor, directed the contest play, "The Valiant," which was presented at the NCKL Drama Festival; the district contest, where it received a highly superior rating, eligible for state competition, at Hays where it merited a superior rating.

"The Valiant," dramatic one-act play which competed in dramatic contest, was directed by Mrs. Doyen. Pictured is the meeting between a doomed prisoner, Preston Bassford, and the girl who may be his sister, Kay Reiter. Others in the cast are Jim Beu, Roger Giddings, Mike Smith, and Ron Mastin.

Rousing Concert Band And Talented

The Beloit High Trojan band, under the direction of Mr. Ralph Fuhrken, completed another successful year of public appearances by participating in the annual spring music concert. Other appearances were made in Topeka at the Free Fair and in Manhattan at the annual band day. High stringing twirlers performing with the marching band this year were Kathy Knitter, Linda Mann, Sharon McClintock, (Majorette) Madonna Selchnow, and Thelma Ann Finley.

GEMS OF HISTORY

Since 1932, the students have proudly responded to the name "Trojans" and have lived up to the Trojan honor—as defined in the legend—especially in the field of sports. In 1957, the athletes once again gloried the tradition of winning honors for teamwork, good coaching, and school spirit that make us champions...state football champs in 1905...after helping organize the N.C.K.L. league Beloit has often brought home its trophies in football, basketball, and track...Girl's Athletic Association was active for many years sponsoring and encouraging sports for girls...The staunch Trojans are athletes to be proud of, win or lose.

Beloit won the first two meets, a triangular with Lincoln and Miltonvale (119 points) on March 12; and a dual with Concordia (129 1/2 points) on March 28. On April 12 the varsity group entered the Hays Relays, coming in fifth place with 21 1/2 points. A climax of the season came about with the winning of first places in the Norton Relays on April 20 and the North Central Kansas League on May 2. The boys came in seventh place (13 points) at the regional at Hays and qualified five boys for the state meet at Wichita on May 18.

On April 8 the Freshmen participated in a meet here which Belleville won. Later, the Freshmen took third place behind Belleville and Marysville in a "Telegraphic Meet" held May 8.

Host Beloit Relays; Golf Team Also NCKL Champs!

The day of the annual Beloit Relays is always an exciting day with new records being made by the athletes from many schools eager to place and help bring home a trophy. This year was no exception. Principal Chestnut, as manager, worked long before the big day sending invitations to the schools. Coaches were now getting anxious as the eliminations were run in the morning. Finally, the zero hour arrived. With the pretty queen candidates ready with the medals, the boys ran and jumped the threw their best. When the dust had settled, class A records in the 880 run and medley relay were broken, while new class B records in the high hurdles, medley relay and mile relay were made. Clay Center emerged the class A victor, with Chapman second, Hays third, and Beloit fourth. Halstead came in with the most points in class B competition. Tired Beloit boys celebrated at the Relays party that night, agreeing that the Beloit Relays had once again lived up to its reputation as one of the best track events in the state.

The school's golf team, composed of three seniors, Roger Giddings, Jim Gengler, Don Stephens; and one junior, Jim Beu, not only won the N.C.K.L. golf championship, but, in state competition, received second place, a record Coach Cornwell and the boys can well be proud of! Eighteen boys participated in this sport, including eight freshmen.

JUNIOR HIGH

GEMS OF HISTORY

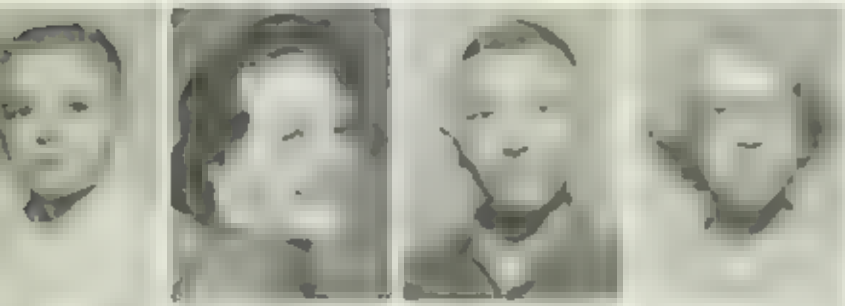

Years ago, the eighth grade moved into the same building as the high school.

From this somewhat hesitant beginning emerged the Beloit Junior High, a level of schooling that teaches readin', writin', and 'rithmetic, and lots of other things too...social graces at dancing classes...democratic ideals in organizations...school spirit in athletics... and helps transcend the happy child into a happy teenager. This year the junior high came of age and moved into their own building, formerly the Field Grade School. May this be but the beginning of 75 years of progressive history for them, also.

Juniors Are Hosts At Banquet...

Against a scenic background, Richard Heiman announces the program.

The Junior-Senior Banquet was held in the banquet room of the Municipal Building on the evening of May 3, 1957, at 7:00 o'clock.

As guests arrived they were greeted by the reception line, into the scenic atmosphere of "Hawaiian Paradise."

While eating, Hawaiian music was played in the background. An enjoyable dinner was served to the seniors and juniors and faculty.

Master of ceremonies, Richard Heiman, introduced the numbers on the program, which consisted of songs, dances, and a reading.

At the close of the evening everyone enjoyed dancing and had the feeling that a most enjoyable evening was spent in the romantic land of Hawaii.

In A "Hawaiian Paradise"

Guests enjoy a delicious dinner.
